—Aaron Belz, author of Lovely, Raspberry "I returned to writing in 2006 and Poet's Market was the first book I purchased. It guides everyone—from newbie to seasoned writer—on the path to publishing their poems." —Jessie Carty, author of Paper House

Provincetown and Other Poems Leo

Connellan 1995-07-01 In Provincetown and Other Poems, Leo Connellan masterfully depicts the New England landscape while capturing the afflicted spirit of those filled "with wonder / and fear that we are being forever left yearning / malcontent." In his accessible and characteristic style, Connellan gives empathizes with the impoverished and disparaged, as well as criticizes the roles big industries have in producing adverse circumstances for the region. With its focus on the working class, Provincetown offers a grim and unforgettable look at the place where "Death sings to life . . . where / life style has no code."

Books in Print Supplement 1994

At the Gate Martha Rhodes 1995 Poetry. "A collection whose distinction rests in structure: Rhodes cleaves to no fixed perspective—this is a single speaker, eccentric, various, rather than a spokesperson. This fluidity persuades because it mimics the dilemma, imitates and preserves the child's helplessly reactive mind as it survives into, and is masked by, adulthood. These short poems, by turns savage, wry, mordantly witty, tender, stern, deluded, sane, read like a series of fragments, bits of mosaic; they duplicate on the page the sense of a past's being, piece by piece, recovered; they convey, devastatingly, the moment of a pattern's emerging: the little scenes and vignettes, the suspect tools of memory, cohere heart-stoppingly and absolutely into a narrative which fuses the damaged body to the divided heart. The results of the forbidden saturate these poems; reading them we are in the presence of harm. and, simultaneously, a wild, stubborn, unkillable life"-Louise Gluck.

Poetry After 9/11 Dennis Loy Johnson
2011-08-16 This important and inspiring collection is a sweeping overview of poetry written in New York in the year after the 9/11 attacks . . . This anthology contains poems by forty-five of the most important poets of the day, as well as some of the literary world's most dynamic young voices, all writing in New York City in the year immediately following the World Trade Center attacks. It was inspired by the editors' observation that after the tragic events of September 11th, 2001, poetry was being posted everywhere in New York—on telephone poles, on warehouse walls, on bus shelters, in the letters-to-the-editor section of newspapers ... New Yorkers spontaneously turned to poetry to understand and cope with the tragedy of the attack. Full of humor, love, rage and fear, this diverse collection of poems attests to that power of poetry to express and to heal the human spirit. Featuring poems by Pulitzer Prize winner Stephen Dunn; Best American Poetry series editor David Lehman; National Book Award winner and New York State Poet Jean Valentine; the first ever Nuyorican Slam-Poetry champ; poets laureate of Brooklyn and Queens; and a poem and introduction by National Book Award finalist Alicia Ostriker.

Coffee at Hilde's Kujawa, Oleson, Lombardi, Phillips 2013-08 Watching lovers on Commercial Street, walking the autumn in Beech Forest, collecting a garden in a scarf, and beholding the great expanse of clouds above a Midwest farm these are all experiences shared by four women on Wednesday mornings at Hilde's, over coffee and with stashes of poetry in their bags. Each has a different lifestyle, yet all have been drawn to Provincetown. Here, they have found that through their poetry, they are not so different after all.

Atom and Archetype C. G. Jung 2014-07-21 In 1932, world-renowned physicist Wolfgang Pauli had already done the work that would win him the 1945 Nobel Prize. He was also suffering after a series of troubling personal events. He was drinking heavily, quarrelling frequently, and experiencing powerful, disturbing dreams. Pauli turned to C. G. Jung for help, forging an extraordinary intellectual conjunction not just between a physicist and a psychologist but between physics and psychology. As their acquaintance developed, Jung and Pauli discussed the nature of dreams and their relation to reality, finding surprising common ground between depth psychology and quantum physics and profoundly influencing each other's work. This portrait of an incredible friendship will fascinate readers interested in psychology, science, creativity, and genius.

Hometown for an Hour Jennifer Rose 2006-01-15 In her second collection of poems, Jennifer Rose writes primarily of places and displacement. Using the postcard's conventions of brevity, immediacy, and, in some instances, humor, these poems are greetings from destinations as disparate as Cape Cod, Kentuckiana, and Croatia. Rich in imagery, deftly crafted, and imbued with a lightness of voice, these poems are also postmarked from poetry's more familiar provinces of love, nature, and loss.

Fifth Season David Matias 1998 Poetry. A simply and beautifully produced book from Provincetown Arts Press. Frank Bidart lauds the fact that Matias' "struggles to survive and the search to find manifestation on the page here are one: new, tender, quick." "Fifth Season" chronicles a literal struggle to survive, the struggle of a poet living with AIDS to keep life meaningful. Sunsets, gay bars, Myambutal, histories both personal and communal, sex and last wills and testaments coexist in poems that refuse to look away from the beautiful, even while the painful insists on being seen as well. "Matias' poems have been anthologized in Things Shaped In Passing: More "poets For Life" Writing From The Aids Pandemic, and he was the recipient of a poetry fellowship at the Free Arts Work Center in Provincetown in 1994-95. "In his short time, David measured up to his promise remarkably; this is a rich, deeply intelligent book, a triumph of art and feeling" (Robert Pinsky). David Matias died in 1996.

Literature after 9/11 Ann Keniston 2013-04-15
Drawing on trauma theory, genre theory, political theory, and theories of postmodernity, space, and temporality, Literature After 9/11 suggests ways that these often distinct discourses can be recombined and set into dialogue with one another as it explores 9/11's effects on literature and literature's attempts to convey 9/11.

Lev's Violin Helena Attlee 2021-04-01 A RADIO 4 BOOK OF THE WEEK 'Utterly enthralling - a beautifully-written voyage of discovery that takes us deep into the heart of music-making' Deborah Moggach From the moment she hears Lev's violin for the first time, Helena Attlee is captivated. She is told that it is an Italian instrument, named after its former Russian owner. Eager to discover all she can about its ancestry and the stories contained within its delicate wooden body, she sets out for Cremona, birthplace of the Italian violin. This is the beginning of a beguiling journey whose end she could never have anticipated. Making its way from dusty workshops, through Alpine forests, cool Venetian churches, glittering Florentine courts, and far-flung Russian flea markets, Lev's Violin takes us from the heart of Italian culture to its very furthest reaches. Its story of luthiers and scientists, princes and orphans, musicians, composers, travellers and raconteurs swells to a poignant meditation on the power of objects, stories and music to shape individual lives and to craft entire cultures.
